

"I don't know of any issue before the commission that is more fraught with serious consequences for the American people than the media ownership rules."